

Setback for Kingston Point Marina

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The tide's gone out on what would have been a $1.5 million marina at Kingston Point for the City of Kingston, the Freeman has learned.

Citing a lack of commitment on the part of city officials, the Army Corps of Engineers, which would have built the 342-foot marina at the mouth of the Rondout Creek, withdrew its planning money on April 13, thus setting the project back at least three years.

A spokesman for the Corps told the Freeman, "It died because local interests could not come up with their money. We waited for a year and a half after the plan was presented. Various attempts were made to get local assurances (commitments). We could never get anything nailed down in writing."

This is one of those cases where it isn't the money; it's the priority standing. The "planning money" referred to was only about $1,000 but it represented a "continuing effort."

Now that the project has been turned back to the Corps for lack of commitment on the local level, the whole process will have to start over.

The project is not "dead" in the sense that it cannot be started up again; it's just that getting back to where it was could take several years.

Alexander Gronvall, chief of Marine Services for the State Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, coordinator between the city and the Army Corps of Engineers on this project, says, "right now you might say the thing is in a kind of limbo. The city would have to reapply to the Corps for funds and the Corps would have to again go to Washington for completion of the study."

Plans had called for a 342-foot marina with parking for some 450 cars and other supporting facilities. The Corps of Engineers had offered to dredge the channel to a depth of ten feet and to raise existing dikes by three to four feet.

Also planned was a walking bridge to the Kingston Light-house and facilities for fishing.

The total cost of the project—as outlined in preliminary plans presented by the Corps of Engineers at a Sept. 20, 1972 public hearing at City Hall would have been $1.5 million. The Corps would have paid $250,000, or half of the dredging and dike construction costs with the city and state sharing the other half, with the city's overall share figured at some $625,000.

Corps of Engineers officials expected no commitment from the city after that Sept. 20, 1972 public hearing but they did meet in private with the aldermen and the mayor the following November.

In arguing for the construction of the marina, state officials stated that there was a shortage of some 600 berthing spaces in the area. The city engineer's office drew up estimates on overall costs, including operating expenses, figuring that initially the marina would cost the city about $30,000 a year to operate (revenues from dock rentals were estimated at $50,000) and that ultimately the marina would pay for itself.

On Jan. 18, 1973 it was learned that the study had been extended while the city attempted to further pin down the exact costs of building, financing and operating the facility.

On April 13 of this year the Corps of Engineers withdrew its planning funds because of lack of commitment on the part of the city.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig was unavailable for comment on whether the city intends to pursue the matter any further.

Arab Guerrilla Targets Reportedly Hit

New Air Attacks by Israel

By The Associated Press

The Israeli command said its jets strafed and bombed Arab guerrilla targets in southern Lebanon again today barely 24 hours after its devastating retaliatory attack there. It said all aircraft returned safely after a 30-minute raid.

At the same time, six thunderous explosions shook the Lebanese capital of Beirut in quick succession. One unconfirmed report said anti-aircraft batteries in the port area opened fire on Israeli warplanes.

But Israel said its jets attacked "terrorist objectives" on the western slopes of Mt. Hermon, far south of Beirut.

Radio Damascus said Syrian jets clashed with the Israeli planes and shot one down. The broadcast said the Syrian jets prevented the other Israeli planes from bombing new targets and "drove them off."

Lebanon said the Israeli air raids Thursday were "reminiscent of Nazi horrors" and that the casualty toll "is of a horrifying nature."

"I can safely say scores were killed and hundreds wounded," Information Minister Fahmy Shahin told a news conference in Beirut. He said Lebanese President Suleiman Frangieh called for "effective U.N. action to curb Israel's barbarism."

Israeli jets hit seven areas south of Beirut on Thursday in retaliation for an Arab terrorist raid on an Israeli schoolhouse Wednesday in which more than a score of Israelis were killed.

Israeli ground troops made a hit-and-run attack into southern Lebanon Thursday night, and blew up an empty house less than a mile from the border that had been used by terrorists, the Israeli command said.

It also reported about six mortar rounds were fired toward Metulla, the northernmost Israeli town, but there were no casualties.

The Palestinian news agency Wafa said the Israeli raids Thursday "will not pass without punishment. Israel will pay very dearly for the price of our children."

The Israeli strikes increased the possibility that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger would return to Washington soon without an agreement between Israel and Syria for a separation of their forces on the Golan Heights. But Kissinger made another trip to Damascus Thursday and maintained his return to Jerusalem that "progress was made."

"Tell Kissinger to come see what the Israelis have done with American Phantoms," said one guerrilla. "Even if all the Arabs sign a peace agreement with Israel, we will still continue to fight."

Youngster's diary describes 13-hour ordeal at hands of Arab terrorists; Russia may be preparing to ship some MIG23 jets to Arab forces. Stories on page 24.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy warned that the Arab states could not stand idly by in the face of "Israeli acts of aggression."

In Washington, the White House condemned both the guerrilla attack into Israel and the retaliatory raids, saying, "Continuing cycles of violence of this sort can only obstruct the achievement of a peaceful settlement in the Middle East."

Meanwhile, Kissinger will fly to Cairo from Damascus on Saturday and will not return to Israel. No reason was given for the change, which was announced by officials.

Earlier today, Kissinger said he would make up his mind on whether to return to Israel after weighing developments in one.

Damascus. He flies to the Syrian capital Saturday morning.

The Kissinger party will remain overnight in Cairo and fly to Bonn on Sunday for a two-hour stopover. From there his special Air Force plane flies to London for refueling before continuing to the United States.

Kissinger met again with Israeli leaders today, but his aides already had acknowledged that he would not be able to work out a full troop disengagement between Israel and Syria this weekend.

The differences are narrow but "terribly emotional," newsmen were told as Kissinger flew back to Israel Thursday night following a seven-hour session with Assad and Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam. One senior American official said the two governments are as close to an agreement as whether to return to Israel they could be without having after weighing developments in one.

The Arab terrorist attack on Maalot and the retaliatory Israeli air strikes into Lebanon hampered Kissinger's peace efforts, but his aides stressed that they are not what currently is stalling an agreement. The principal sticking point remains Israel's refusal to yield three strategic hills in the Golan Heights to United Nations control.

Kissinger's marathon session in Damascus Thursday concentrated on where the disengagement lines should be placed. He said afterward that some progress was made.

Before flying to his bayside villa Thursday afternoon, Nixon met in Washington with Republican National Chairman George Bush and White House counselors Dean Burch and Anne Armstrong for what was billed as "a general discussion of political matters."

White House spokesmen later declined to provide any details about the hour-long session, indicating that it focused largely on Nixon's efforts to stem further erosion of his GOP support in Congress along with an assessment of the Watergate scandal's impact on next fall's elections.

Meanwhile, President Nixon gave it records about a $100,000 gift to the President from billionaire Howard Hughes. Six members of the Judiciary Committee, who listened to a tape of Nixon's Feb. 28, 1973, conversation with John Dean, told UPI the tape confirmed Dean's story on many points but not on one key point. Dean testified last summer that Nixon, during this conversation, said he did not want to hear Dean's detailed story about Watergate. There was nothing about that on the tape, said the six congressmen.

$350 Thousand Suit in Paltz Ax Murder

KINGSTON — Henry Baddoo, indicted for the ax murder of Howard Grimm, 82, of New Paltz on Sept. 24, 1970 has been ruled "completely and utterly insane" and deported to his home land of Ghana.

On Wednesday, District Attorney Francis A. Vogt moved to dismiss all charges against Baddoo, a 24-year old exchange student at the State University of New Paltz at the time of the crime. County Judge Raymond Mino acted on Vogt's request, this clearing the way for Baddoo's departure Thursday night from Kennedy International to Ghana. He was accompanied by an official from the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

Baddoo was captured shortly after the crime and had been confined in mental institutions, first Middletown State Hospital and then at the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane ever since.

While Baddoo's deportation brings to an end criminal proceedings in the case, the Freeman has learned that there is still a $350,000 civil suit pending against Ulster County charging negligence in the "wrongful death" of Grimm.

The notice of claim was filed by the estate of Howard Grimm in January of 1971, several months after the murder at Grimm's home at South Mannheim Boulevard across from the New Paltz campus.

The claim is directed specifically at the Ulster County Mental Health Association where Baddoo was a patient for some time prior to the murder of Grimm. Although the county unit is for "out patients" only, it does have the authority to recommend the commitment of persons that may be considered potentially dangerous to themselves or the community.

The claim alleges Baddoo should have been committed.

The county turned the claim over to its insurance carrier in October of 1971 and has not been notified of any action on it since.

Vogt indicated there was never any hope that Baddoo would ever be brought to trial for the Grimm murder. "There was no question about the fact he was completely and utterly insane. All the medical authorities concurred," Vogt said.

Vogt said the county was not charged for Baddoo's three-year incarceration at Matteawan but, ironically, the federal government will pay his plane fare and that of the official from the Department of Mental Hygiene to Ghana.

"It seems that while Baddoo was in college (he was a senior at the State University College at New Paltz at the time of the murder) he worked at a part time job and paid Social Security," Vogt said. As such, Baddoo was eligible for benefits. Social Security ruled Baddoo's insanity a disability and paid him benefits while at Matteawan. That money was used for a one-way ticket for Baddoo to Ghana and a round trip ticket for the person accompanying him.

The brutal murder of Howard Hasbrouck Grimm, 82, at the time of his death, left New Paltz Village and the college in a state of shock.

Grimm, a widower and a retired banker, had been one of the most prominent men in the New Paltz community. He lived alone in a stone house facing the campus.

Solid Waste Disposal Contract Signed

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

A viable contract for the first cooperative municipal solid waste disposal study in the state involving the City of Kingston, five towns and a village is expected by June 1 with former Ulster County Environmental Sanitary Engineer Harry Edinger reportedly expected to be hired to conduct the study, the Freeman has learned.

The contract will pave the way for a joint solid waste disposal program involving the city, the towns of Ulster, Hurley, Esopus, Kingston and Rosendale as well as the Village of Rosendale.

According to Harold L. Cort, senior field representative for the Office of Local Government and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, who previously announced federal and state funding of $21,595.80 for the project, a salaried executive secretary is to be hired to conduct the joint study which is expected to be concluded by Dec. 31 of this year.

Edinger, who has degrees from Tufts College and Harvard University, retired as the county's environmental sanitary engineer Feb. 1, 1972 after 38 years of public service.

City of Kingston Planner Robert Pritchard, noting that the Common Council endorsed the joint program, said it is anticipated that the mechanism for similar projects can be utilized by communities in the state to meet community development needs within the context of possible adjustments in federal grant programs and funding arrangements.

Bell said the program stemmed from the fact the State Department of Conservation has warned several communities that they have to upgrade their solid waste disposal operations but none of them have had the staff or expertise to devote full time to the problem.

Cort hailed the step as a serious effort by the communities to work together, praised them for wading through red tape, treading new ground and launching a project which can benefit not only this county but many others.

The proposal does not necessarily follow the county's published solid waste disposal plan of a few years ago, but it will be the job of the executive secretary to get the municipalities approval of each municipality.

together, make certain trade-offs and generally find a solid waste disposal plan satisfactory to all. Cort said that until now most towns have had the attitude that the best place for a regional landfill is two towns away from their own.

Bell said he is gratified that Ulster County was the first in the state selected for the pilot project and was pleased that the different governmental agencies have been able to work so well and cooperate with each other in setting the wheels in motion for the project which needed the individual

Four Muslims Indicted In 'Zebra' Killings

By ART MCGINN

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four young Black Muslims were indicted for murder and assault Thursday in the "Zebra" killings that left 13 white victims dead.

The indictments were handed up in San Francisco Superior Court following three days of testimony, including an appearance by an informant who tied the killings to a cult called the "Death Angels."

Indicted were Manuel Moore, 29, J.C. Simon, 29, and Larry C. Green, 22, all of San Francisco. The three were arrested May 1 in a pre-dawn raid. Bail for each was set at $300,000.

Jessie Cooks, already serving a murder term at San Quentin Prison, also was indicted. Cooks had not appeared previously in court in connection with the "Zebra" case.

Assistant District Attorney Walter Giubini told the court police had the weapons used in 12 shootings and six gunshot assaults.

The indictments charged one or two shooting murder counts against each suspect. Two men, Green and Cooks, face charges for the hacking death of a daughter of a prominent winery owner. This did not fit the random pattern of the dozen murders.

In that case, Green and Cooks were accused of murder, assault and robbery for the Oct. 20, 1973, killing and decapita-

Pair Refuse to Give Testimony In Symbionese Jury Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young man and woman were jailed for refusing to answer questions before a federal grand jury probing charges that the Symbionese Liberation Army robbed a bank and the kidnapped newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso Zirpoli denied bail Thursday for Paul L. Halverson, 29, a graduate philosophy student at San Francisco State University, and Cynthia Garvey, 27, of Oakland. He also refused to stay their sentence pending appeal.

The two were sentenced until they agree to testify or for the life of the grand jury, which could extend for more than two years.

Their refusal to testify came despite the fact they had been granted immunity from prosecution.

Deliberations Continue In Roncallo Trial

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — A jury of six men and six women was to enter its second day of deliberations today in the conspiracy-extortion trial of Rep. Angelo Roncallo, R-N.Y.

The jury got the case at 6:24 p.m. Thursday, then took a leisurely dinner, and began deliberations at 9:05 p.m. After an hour and 50 minutes, U.S. District Judge Edward Neaher sent the jurors to their hotel rooms for the night.

During the 14-day trial, in which the jurors were sequestered, the government tried to prove that Roncallo and a code-

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard G. Kleindienst may go to jail, but he has Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's praise that "he stood up to his convictions" in rejecting a direct order from the President of the United States.

Kleindienst, 50, the second of President Nixon's four attorneys general, pleaded guilty Thursday in U.S. District Court to one count of refusing to testify "accurately and completely" before the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1972 about the ITT antitrust case.

Later, Kleindienst issued a statement about what happened in 1971 while he was deputy attorney general and the Justice Department was handling an antitrust suit against the mammoth International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT).

First, he said, White House Domestic Affairs Assistant John D. Ehrlichman and then Nixon called, ordering him to drop the case which was due to expire the next day. There have been some reports Nixon swore at him.

"When the President hung up, I considered immediately resigning but realized that if I did so the case might not be appealed, which would be tantamount to compliance with the order. Instead, I decided to get the extension of time and then offer my resignation," Kleindienst said.

Shortly, Nixon retracted. The case was appealed. Eventually, however, a settlement was reached out of court. The settlement was viewed as favorable to ITT — which was allowed to keep Hartford Insurance — and subsequently ITT offered up to $400,000 to help fund the 1972 Republican National Convention.

Kleindienst said that to his knowledge the settlement and the offer were not linked and so

Plumbers... Illegal Break-In WASHINGTON (AP) — Not even a direct order from President Nixon would have made the break in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office legal, says Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

And, he added, none of the men charged with conspiracy in the case have been able to claim they had any such order or any authority other than "a general mandate to investigate leaks."

Jaworski made the assertions Thursday in a 62-page memorandum asking U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell to turn down a demand by the six defendants for a huge amount of "national security" material from the White House to be used at their trial next month.

That issue, and others raised by the defendants, will be argued in four days of court hearings next week.

The prosecutor said "all evidence of national security motivation is irrelevant" in a case involving interference with constitutional rights against unreasonable search and seizure.

"It was a carefully measured escalation of government information-gathering that began D. Ehrlichman, the former Nixon domestic advisor who had obtained the 'necessary' psychiatric data from Dr. Fielding through an FBI interview," Jaworski said.

Dr. Lewis Fielding, a Beverly Hills psychiatrist, had been treating Ellsberg — then under indictment for leaking the Pentagon Papers — when White House agents entered his office the night of Sept. 3, 1971.

The defendants include John Colson, former special counsel to the President.

"Conceivably a judge or magistrate might have agreed; but the point is that the conspirators made sure that no opportunity for judicial consideration arose. It is hard to imagine a more patent and culpable violation of the Fourth Amendment than this carefully plotted secret nighttime break-in," the brief stated.

Jewels... Records Still Closed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The thousands of presidential White House continues to consider its records of foreign gifts to President Nixon and his family confidential and will not open the records to public view.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Thursday the White House view is that publicizing such gifts might cause embarrassment in diplomatic dealings with other countries.

He said the White House has not received any request from the watchdog General Accounting Office for information on the White House gifts unit files.

Attention has been focused on presidential gifts since disclosure Tuesday by the Washington Post's Maxine Cheshire that the Nixon family received gifts of three sets of expensive jewels over the past five years from the Saudi Arabian royal family, and that those gifts were never made public.

He said the gifts always were acknowledged to be U.S. property and that the Nixons plan to turn all of their gifts and gift records over to a Nixon library when they leave the White House.

by a foreign dignitary or for eign government becomes the property of the United States.

Warren said all of the Saudi Arabian jewelry was recorded when it was received. But he conceded that Mrs. Nixon kept the jewels in her bedroom wall safe and that she and her daughters occasionally wore them.

Police Reorganization Looms

PORT EWEN — A complete and thorough reorganization of the Esopus Police Department was agreed upon at the first formal meeting of the recently appointed township Police Commission Thursday night.

John Grady of Rifton, who has been named chairman of the new Commission, said following the meeting that through the reorganization "Police protection will be extended in all areas of the township and through diligence and determination, the public will be given the security and protection that is vital for the peace of mind of any community during these trying times."

Grady, who is serving on the Police Commission with Carl Cline of Port Ewen and Frank Wiest of West Park, declined to discuss the possible specific changes that are expected in the police department. The first steps toward reorganization will be made during a meeting of the Commission next Wednesday, Grady said.

The changes in the department will place an emphasis on efficient and capable police protection for the residents of the town, Grady said. "The board has agreed that lace party justice will not be tolerated in the Town of Esopus, and offenders will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law," he added.

The three Police Commission members were named at a meeting of the Town Board last Wednesday. The issue of a permanent police commission became a matter of much controversy in April when Councilmen Frank Bell and Thomas Johnson charged that the temporary police commission, consisting of Councilmen John Bowman and George Villielm and Supervisor George Freer, was dragging its feet on the appointment of the full time commission.

Freer had denied the charge, stating that he and the two councilmen were "working constantly for a full-time civilian commission."

Controversy also surrounded the resignations of two members of the police force, Chief Robert Emberson and constable Harry Van Vliet. Emberson charged that the department was becoming a "political mockery."

Now, however, the storms seem to have calmed with the formation of the new Police Commission.

Freer was present at the meeting Thursday, where he outlined the duties and responsibilities of the Commission.

Grady appealed for public patience, understanding and cooperation in the Commission's steps toward reorganization of the Esopus Police Department.

Sheriff Martin Denies Report

Sheriff William B. Martin

denied today he ever told the members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Committee on April 2 that he "had not submitted the necessary vouchers" to Rockland County for payment of Rockland prisoners residing in Ulster County Jail since Feb. 1.

A report of Legislator Clifford W. Snyder (R-Dist. 1) stated that "Sheriff Martin informed the committee that he had not submitted the necessary vouchers immediately."

The sheriff insisted today he never said that and Deputy Sheriff Jerry Schwartz backed up the sheriff saying the vouchers were mailed April 1 by him and that the sheriff "definitely knew they were in."

Schwartz explained that under the legislature's contract with Rockland for housing its prisoners, the vouchers are to be submitted quarterly and that the first one was drawn up

April 1 and mailed April 2. "The vouchers were in on time," Schwartz said.

Sheriff Martin reportedly also took issue over a Sheriff Committee statement that it had turned down a request by Dutchess County to house some of its prisoners in Ulster County Jail. The committee, in its April 2 report, had indicated the request was denied because of the housing of Rockland inmates here and because of "the problems that have occurred at Ulster County Jail recently."

"We are trying to get them (Rockland County) to cut down on the number of prisoners they have sent here," he explained.

SAVE ELECTRICITY THIS SUMMER...

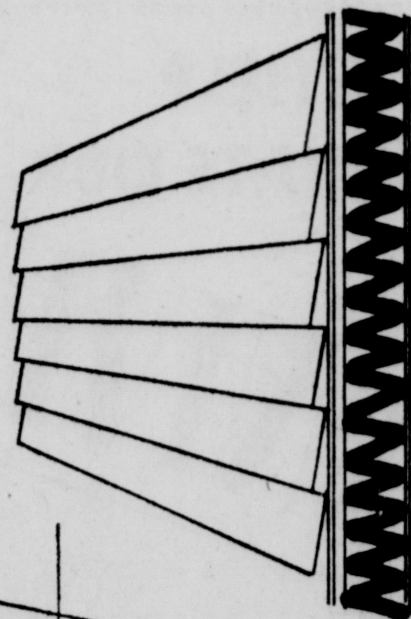

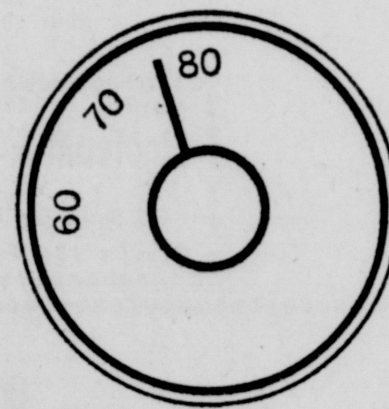

It will cost more to air condition your home this summer. It's impossible to say how much more — that will depend on electric fuel adjustment charges, on the weather — and on you.

But you can make your summer more comfortable and cut down or avoid air conditioner use, too. Here's how.

1. If you buy an Air Conditioner, be sure that you get the proper size for the area you need to cool. And shop around for an Air Conditioner with the highest efficiency rating. It will probably cost a little more to buy, but it will last longer and you'll save on operating costs. If the salesman cannot give you the efficiency ratings for the Air Conditioners you are interested in, you can easily figure them out for yourself — just divide the watts into the BTU's — (these are listed on the nameplate).

SAMPLE:
 $1,200 \text{ watts} / 10,000 \text{ BTU's} = 8.3$
A rating of 7 or higher is considered desirable.

2. Keep your air conditioning temperature around 78°. Every degree less increases your usage of electricity about 5%.
3. Have your Air Conditioner serviced every year — before the cooling season.
4. If you are going out for the day — turn your Air Conditioner off, or buy a timer to turn your conditioner on shortly before you return.
5. INSULATE. Most people don't realize that a well-insulated house is not only easier to keep warm in winter but easier to keep cool in summer, too! Insulation pays for itself in fuel saved for heating and in electricity saved.
6. Open the windows at night and close them during the day. Storm windows are an added help in keeping out daytime heat.
7. An attic fan will keep your attic from getting very hot, and will pull cooler air up through the house.
8. If you are considering re-roofing your home, remember that light-colored shingles will reflect much of the sun's heat and help keep your house cooler.
9. Awnings or shades on the sunny side of the house will help keep inside temperatures down.

Atkinson to Seek Senate Seat, Supports Hinckey

By TIM SCHUSTER

KINGSTON — Paul Atkinson has raised his sights from last week's announced candidacy for the state assembly — the state senate is now his target.

Speaking at a press conference at the Donald Short residence on Washington Avenue Thursday afternoon, Atkinson declared himself in the running for the seat now occupied by Sen. Richard Schermerhorn of Middletown, representing the 40th District.

Atkinson is a Liberal Party member, having previously tried both the Republicans and Democrats and finding neither to his ideological liking, and the Liberal Party nomination is the first item on his agenda. He is also former chairman of the Ulster County Peace Committee.

But what would prompt a man to switch directions before he had even entered the stream on his horse, so to speak, and jump from an Assembly candidacy to Senate aspirations? "I voted for Maurice Hinckey for Assembly two years ago when he ran against H. Clark Bell, and I still support and endorse him," he explained, noting that Democrat Hinckey, with probable Liberal Party backing, would provide Bell with a much stronger contest than a divide and conquer campaign.

Hinckey declared his candidacy just this week, and so the race for state senator representing Orange, Rockland, and the southern portion of Ulster thickens to include incumbent Schermerhorn, possible GOP primary challenger Helmut Kimpel, declared Democrat King James Weyant, and now Paul Atkinson.

Regarding his "opponents," Atkinson commented that he would let Schermerhorn's record "speak for itself" and added that he had not heard Weyant declare any opinions on anything at all. He said it was a "Tweedle-Dum or Tweedle-Dee choice."

Atkinson said he met with Ulster Liberal Party leaders Sunday night to sound them out, and plans shortly to bring his message to party officials in Orange, where most of the votes lie, and Rockland.

Regarding his support of Hinckey, Atkinson claimed: "I have not changed my position on the Democratic Party; Hinckey is the only Democrat I know with the guts to beat Clark Bell."

As for the Liberal nomination, Atkinson said that realistically only Weyant could compete for it, and he is not a Liberal and "does not have the backing."

He harked to his theme that "people are turned off by politicians," claiming that this is true not just on a national level since "Watergate did not happen in a vacuum."

Why start at the state level with political ambitions? "Atkinson said he realized that he does not have sufficient backing for any national nomination, and the issues he was concerned with could be dealt with at the state level.

What are those issues? Social services, corruption in government, capital punishment, racism on all levels, the power of public utilities — and continued involvement in speaking out on national issues and Ulster County issues.

"I think Ulster County is one of the most racist communities in the United States," he declared, saying he was not limiting this just to previously stated positions on the NAACP, and plans to make campaign promises, as he realizes that many of his views are at variance with the majority of our state legislators. "If I get in, I expect to get shafted," he said, adding, "You can be damned sure Schermerhorn won't. This will be the start of a long fight."

Atkinson stated that he would welcome forums or debates with Schermerhorn and/or Weyant on the campaign circuit.

He will attend and participate Saturday in the march and rally through West Point, sponsored by Vietnam Veterans Against the War, calling for complete and unconditional amnesty for all war resisters. One plank on that platform also explicitly states, "Kick Nixon Out!"

Wilson Signs Bill, Arts Appropriation

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Gov. Malcolm Wilson Thursday signed a $30.5 million appropriation bill for the State Council on the Arts into law during a ceremony in which he presented the 9th annual New York State awards to 10 recipients, including former Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Wilson, who made the presentations at the Albright-Knox Art Gallery, credited an ad hoc group called "Concerned Citizens for the Arts" and those involved in the arts as being instrumental in getting the bill through the legislature.

During the ceremony, a group of about 50 persons, many of them members of the Attica Defense Committee, marched in front of the art gallery protesting Wilson's role in the Rockefeller administration's handling of the 1971 Attica prison riot.

Wilson said the just-completed 1974 legislative session was "very productive" and noted that the arts appropriation bill had faced a great deal of opposition.

"The bill not only restored the amount I had recommended but added a little fringe benefit," Wilson said.

The awards, presented under the auspices of the State Council of the Arts, are given to individuals or groups who make "significant contributions to material beauty and artistic life" in New York State.

Rockefeller, who was responsible for the founding of the council in 1960, was cited for "unprecedented championing of the arts as a central feature of American life."

The recipients, in addition to Rockefeller: —Chautauqua Institution, for "sustained activity as a performing and visual arts center of national importance."

Albany Board of Education, for creating in the Arbor Hill Elementary School "a visually exciting environment for learning which serves as both practical and symbolic link between a planned and renewed city and the existing neighborhood street pattern."

—Dance Theatre of Harlem and Arthur Mitchell, New York City, for creating in Harlem "a dance company of professional distinction which, for the first time, brings classical ballet training within reach of black people."

—International Arts Relations, New York City, for "demonstrating the richness and universal importance of Hispanic theatre through performances of sustained excellence."

—Municipal Art Society of New York, "for more than 80 years' service to make New York City a better place to live through civic embellishment, effective efforts to preserve major landmarks, and advocacy of sound city planning."

—The New Yorker, and William Shawn, for "almost half a century of unflinching excellence of fiction, reporting and cartoons to establish and maintain an internationally recognized standard of urbanity."

—The Paper Bag Players, New York City, "for a lasting contribution to the artistic form of children's theatre."

—The F&M Schaefer Brewing Co., Brooklyn, for "enriching greater New York City summers with free and low-cost musical events of high quality and broad appeal."

—Tri-Cities Opera, Binghamton, for "marshalling local talent to develop an operatic center of national stature."

Court Upholds Development Rejection

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — An appeals court has upheld the State Environmental Conservation Department's rejection of plans for an 18,000-acre second home development in the Adirondacks.

A ruling announced Thursday by the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, 3rd Department, turned down an appeal by Ton-Da-Lay, Ltd., a development company seeking permission to build a resort community of 20,000 persons on a tract of land in the Franklin County town of Altamont.

The court supported the determination by the conservation commissioner that the development firm had failed to make adequate plans for a water supply and septic system for the massive project on the now primarily forested tract.

However, in a unanimous decision, the court said the commissioner had either overstepped his authority or lacked sufficient evidence to block the development because of its undesirable environmental impact on the region; the lack of public necessity, or failure of the plan to provide for payment of damages to persons buying in the development.

The court noted that the department's decision last August — after 29 days of public hearings on the project — was made "without prejudice," thus leaving open the possibility that Ton-Da-Lay could make a new application if the commissioner's objections were met.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 17, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — At the instigation of the White House, Postmaster General Ted Klassen held off postal rate increases during the 1972 campaign in order to avoid stirring up voter discontent against President Nixon.

Instead, Klassen cut back on postal workers and caused a slowdown of the mails. This developed into a mail debacle after the election, with Christmas deliveries stacked up days behind schedule and postmasters all over the country dumping mail on each other.

Yet when Klassen was hauled before the Senate Post Office Committee in early 1973 to explain the postal foul-up, he blamed it all on his zeal to cut costs. He deliberately misled the Senate by failing to mention the deal he had made with the White House to slash the postal force rather than raise postage prices.

Klassen played political patty cake with the President's campaign aides, despite the fact that the Postal Service had been reorganized as an independent agency for the specific purpose of removing it from politics.

In the past, the Post Office had often operated as a political arm of the President. But under the reorganization, it was supposed to be totally free of White House control, much less political influence.

The story of how Klassen put politics ahead of postal service is told in a secret White House memo. He was summoned before John Ehrlichman, then the White House domestic chief. The secret meeting was also attended by White House efficiency expert Fred Malek, whose job was to gear government action to getting President Nixon re-elected.

Reporting on the meeting in an April 17, 1972, memo, Malek described a plan to "cut the summer employment program and put a freeze on hiring" at the Postal Service. This would save the money that otherwise would have necessitated a rate rise, it was agreed.

"It was the combined judgment of the assembled group," wrote Malek, that this "course of action was within the range of political acceptability."

He reported that "the freeze on hiring should result in a reduction by attrition of 5,000 to 6,000 employees per month for the next 5-6 months." While he realized this "substantial number" would cut into services, he argued this "would seem preferable to a rate increase."

Malek suggested another meeting "in about three months to assess progress and to determine actions and their political consequences." Three months later, the hiring freeze had crippled the Postal Service, mail deliveries were bogging down and Klassen was making speeches about how he was cutting costs.

He didn't mention that the sole purpose of his economies was to prevent a postage stamp increase, which postal technicians wanted in January 1973. Under the law, this would have required an announcement a few weeks before the November 1972 election. Of course, the price of mailing a first class letter has now gone up from eight to 10 cents.

Footnote: Malek told us he "attended the (secret) meeting as an observer, just to learn what the postal plans were." A spokesman for Klassen told my associate Les Whitten that Klassen had actually blocked a White House move to add extra summer workers and had decided on the freeze well before the controversial meeting with Ehrlichman and Malek. The spokesman denied Klassen's actions were designed to further the Nixon campaign.

Washington Whirl: Richard Sprague, the crusading U.S. attorney who believes in going after the top man in a criminal conspiracy, successfully prosecuted former mine workers boss Tony Boyle for murder. Now Sprague has finished reading the White House transcripts. His case against Boyle, he told us, wasn't as strong as the evidence implicating President Nixon in the Watergate cover-up.

The White House is obstructing the Senate Watergate Committee's investigation of presidential pal Bebe Rebozo. Aides have produced written authority from the President, claiming executive privilege and directing them not to testify about crucial matters. The President's secretary, Rose Mary Woods, and brothers, Donald and Edward, have also delayed responding to Senate subpoenas. Apparently, the White House strategy is to hold back until the committee goes out of business next May 28.

Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., the old House curmudgeon, offered to bet anyone at Duke Ziebert's restaurant $5,000 the other night that the House won't impeach President Nixon. Passman told us afterwards that he was joking, that he wouldn't bet more than 35 cents on anything. But he swore, sans $5,000, that the President will be exonerated. . . . The White House placed an order a few days ago for electronic parts suitable for tape recorders or other electronic devices. But the parts, unhappily, will arrive too late to correct the inaudibles and unintelligibles in the famous White House transcripts.

A secret White House memo shows that not all civil servants caved in to the pressure of President Nixon's aggressive campaign aides in 1972. When aide David Cahill tried to put the bite on Cost of Living official Dick Cheney for campaign funds, Cheney was so irritated that he complained to Nixon campaign headquarters. "Dick felt someone should be aware of this activity," states the memo.

Who paid you to write this — you call that reporting? Y'all have a cold winter. Texas for Wallace. Alex S. Bennett Jr. San Antonio, Texas.

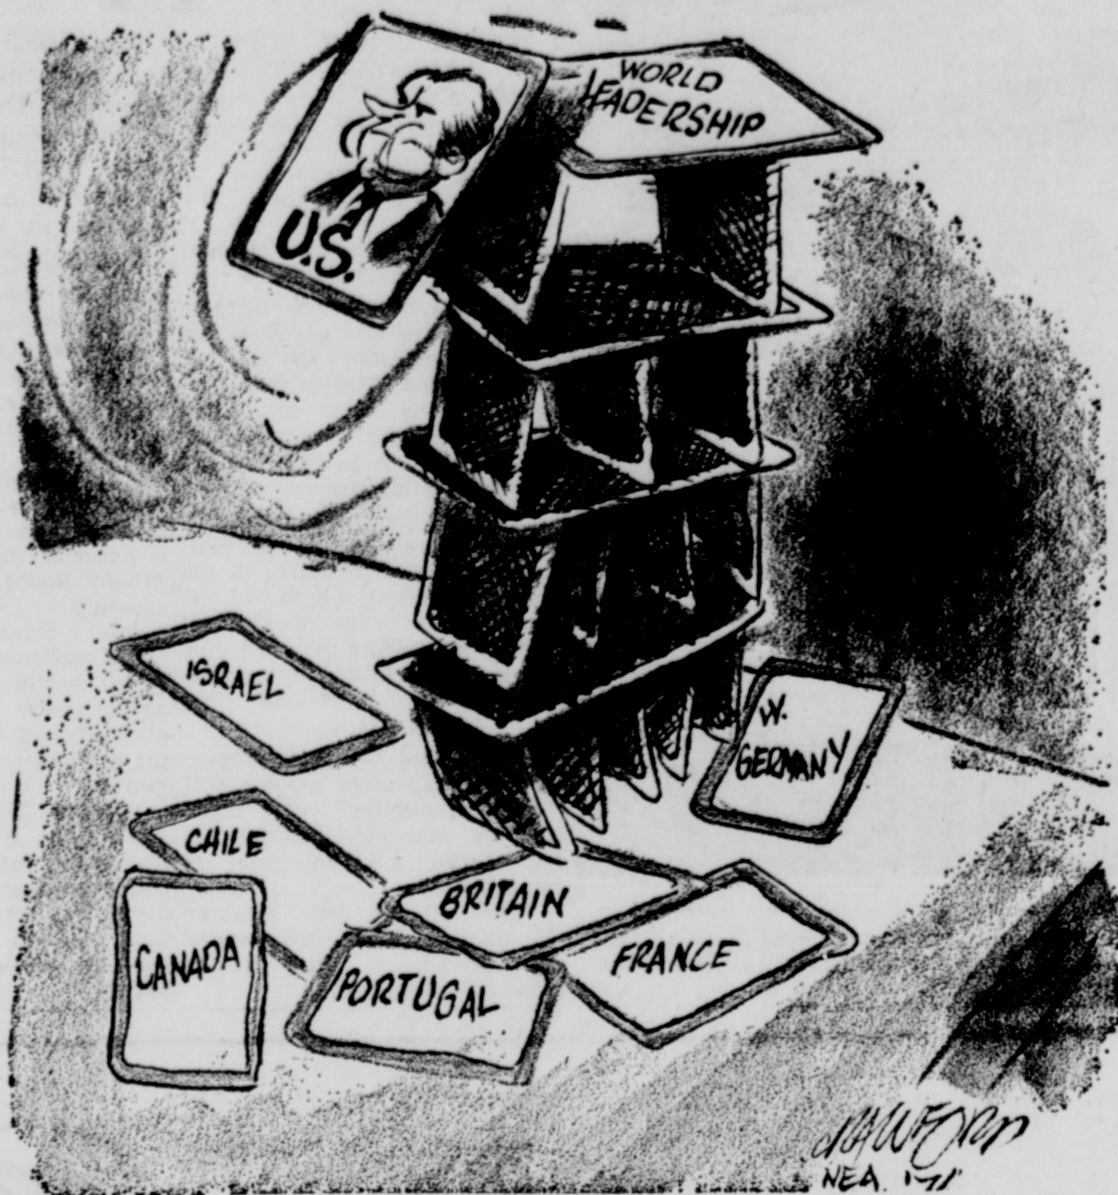

Add one for "Concerned Convict" at the Marion Correctional Institute in Ohio: "It's common knowledge among most Cons that Nixon and his whole gang should be here with us. The thing that scares me is if I were to admit I committed a crime, I cannot resist as Spiro did." He's for Wallace.

Fear not, dear reader. I will continue to stick my neck out . . .

No Easy Question

As the House Judiciary Committee's inquiry gathers momentum, so does interest in the central question: What is an impeachable offense? It is not an easy question to answer. The pertinent constitutional language is vague, and divergent philosophies becloud the issue.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford's best known utterance is his observation, some years ago when he led an abortive fight to impeach Justice William O. Douglas, that an impeachable offense is whatever the House says it is. Recently he has adopted the contrary view that the Constitution precisely defines the grounds for impeachment. This is a corollary to the White House contention that the sole question is whether the President has committed an indictable crime.

This will not do. Neither will Ford's earlier whatever-the-House-says formulation. And if Congress is not to accept the narrow test of indictable criminality, then it must come to a position which takes into consideration the whole wide range of precedent and opinion extending back into English law. James Reston put it another way in the New York Times: "There may be no remedy for the members of the House and Senate other than to listen to the conflicting definitions of what is impeachable, study the evidence and have recourse to common sense in judging what is best, not for the past but for the future of the Republic."

Reston does not leave it at that, however, and we are not content to do so either. It does not suffice merely to say Congress should listen and then judge on the basis of common sense. We specifically reject the notion that only proof of "criminal" acts can warrant impeachment. As Reston says, while White House counsel may cleverly argue that the President must either be proved guilty of a crime or acquitted, "the common sense of the people may long for something better than a clever defense and a hung jury." Congress must not confine itself to an overly cramped perception of what constitutes an impeachable offense.

Sticking With 55

Practical and psychological reasons may be cited in support of the Senate's refusal to rescind the nationwide 55-mile-an-hour highway speed limit. These reasons clearly outweigh arguments in favor of raising the limit to 60.

There are two main practical reasons for sticking with the 55-m.p.h. limit. One is that holding speed to this level conserves fuel. Gasoline is burned at sharply increasing rates as the speed rises.

The other reason, even more compelling, is that slowing down traffic saves lives. This is not a theoretical conclusion; it is based on statistical data. The February highway death figures tell the tale.

In 17 states which had not yet adopted the 55-mile limit in February, the death rate declined but by only two per cent. In contrast, highway deaths were down by 30 per cent in 33 states which already had the 55-m.p.h. limit. The connection between lower speeds and lower death rates is inescapable.

As for the above-mentioned psychological reason for keeping highway speed limits at 55, consider the remarks of Sen. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia. He told his colleagues that raising the maximum "would be another signal to the American people that we no longer consider serious energy conservation an important matter." No such signal should be given. The psychological impetus for energy conservation should, on the contrary, be strengthened.

A VOTE of no-confidence topples the charismatic Trudeau's government in Canada. Everyone agrees it couldn't have happened to a nicer fellow.

THE PORTUGUESE don't quite know what to do with their new freedoms. Which is no surprise, considering that they've not been exercised for 46 years.

WASHINGTON — Operating under secret but intense White House pressure, the Pentagon is now moving cautiously into a new strategic weapons system that may prove to be a lever against Moscow's menacing drive to MIRV its entire long-range missile force.

The contemplated new system is called the stand-off option: a fleet of U.S. bombers or wide-bodied commercial aircraft armed with long-range missiles and capable of circling the Soviet Union at a distance of 1,500 to 3,000 miles.

Since Moscow could not begin to match this new system in the foreseeable future, it hopefully would be compelled to agree to the real aim of President Nixon's quest for a new strategic arms limitation (SALT) agreement with Moscow. That goal: Soviet agreement to limit MIRVing its missiles — that is, putting from 3 to 8 independently-targeted warheads on a single missile.

What makes this so important is the vastly superior thrust or power (throw-weight) of Soviet missile launchers. Once Moscow catches up with U.S. MIRVing technology, this throw-weight advantage could make the land-based Soviet long-range missile force far superior to the U.S. force — a dangerous new element in super-power politics.

There is today no arms expert in the administration, including Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's closest advisors, still nourishing the illusion that Moscow will agree to any meaningful MIRV limitation without something new added to U.S. bargaining power. That something new is the stand-off option.

When Elliott Richardson was ending his brief stint as Secretary of Defense one year ago, he ordered Air Force studies on converting the wide-bodied Lockheed 1011, the Douglas DC-10 and the Boeing 747 into flying launching platforms, each armed with a single ballistic missile. But intense resistance from the Air Force and the civilian high command, including Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements Jr., prevailed. In the words of one high-level presidential advisor, the Air Force was "scared to death this might doom their new B-1 bomber program."

Inside Report

The Stand-Off Option

Resisting White House pressure, not a cent was put into the Pentagon budget, even for technical studies. This was true despite deep Russian anxiety over the stand-off option. They lack the missile technology, the exotic fuels and most important the aircraft. Indeed, Moscow is now trying to obtain licensing rights to build their own version of the Lockheed 1011 and other wide-bodied civilian aircraft.

This impasse now is being broken. Clements and the Pentagon's civilian command have persuaded Air Force and Navy brass to ask Congress for $125 million in research funds to begin studies of a revised stand-off system: bombers armed with strategic nuclear-tipped "cruise" missiles containing their own power supply which would drop from high altitudes, then start their attack at extremely low levels. The same system could also be used for launching from submarines.

The Air Force generals who rejected the commercial-carrier system feel differently about the cruise missile. Instead of raising questions about the need for the vastly more expensive new B-1 bomber, it might well strengthen the B-1 case in Congress, which is now more suspicious about defense spending than at any time in the past 20 years.

Given today's nuclear-defense technology, cruise missiles and their bomber carriers — operating no closer than 1,500 miles from target — would be as invulnerable to Soviet defense as it is possible to get.

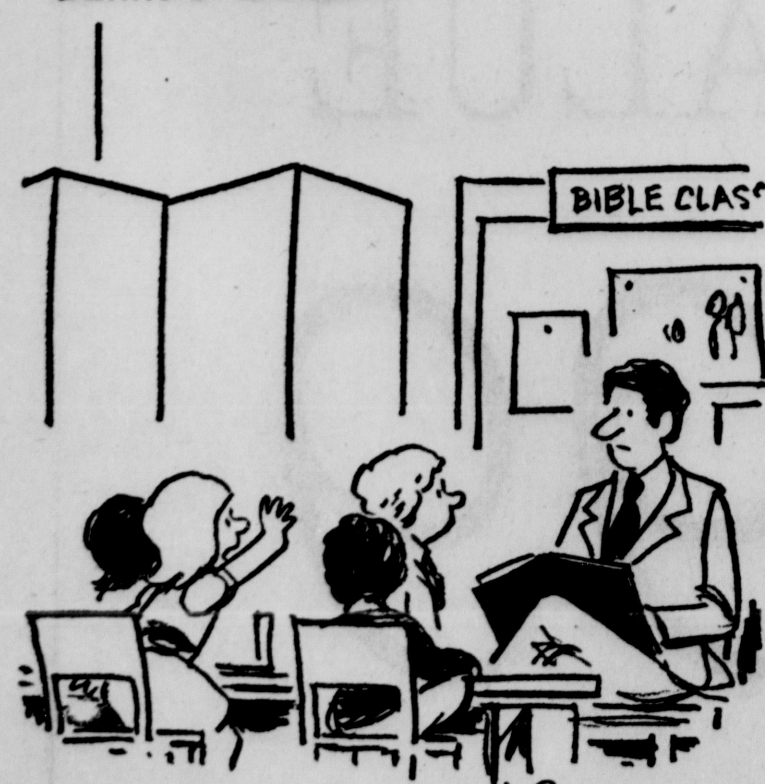

Some Pentagon strategists now foresee a real possibility of flight-testing a strategic cruise missile within the next two years. Yet, the Soviet Union is believed to be more than 10 years away from developing even the fuel technology needed to propel the cruise missile. Thus, Moscow would be unable to respond to this significant upset in the present balance of nuclear power.

The situation might then be roughly comparable to 1972 when the Russians finally agreed to limit their own anti-missile defense system when convinced that the U.S. was ready to build its own, far superior anti-missile missile. Fearing the U.S. stand-off option, the Kremlin could be induced to do what it will not consider today — agree to a mutual limitation on dangerous, unlimited MIRVing of long-range missiles.

NEW YORK (AP) — A new increase in the prime lending rate sent the stock market into retreat today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction and declines outnumbered advances by more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

New York's First National City Bank raised its prime rate from 11 1/4 to a record 11 3/4 percent as the market opened. Shortly afterward Bankers Trust, also of New York, posted a similar increase.

Prices on the Big Board included RCA, down 1/4 at 15 1/2; Pitney-Bowes, up 1/4 at 10; Holiday Inns, down 1/4 at 11; and Pier 1 Imports, down 1/4 at 4 1/4. On Thursday, a late selloff pushed the Dow Jones industrial average down 10.72 points to 835.34.

AP Analysis: Dems, Nixon Agree on Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems an unlikely alliance, but it makes political sense for Democratic leaders to side with President Nixon in rejecting his resignation as the way out of Watergate now.

That is not to say that the Democrats were motivated by the coming elections, rather than the constitutional concerns they cited in counseling against pressure for the President to quit.

But at this point, the two go together.

The constitutional argument is the one Nixon has been advancing all along: That the resignation of a president because of accusations and unpopularity would weaken the presidency as to change the American system of government.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the deputy Democratic leader, said a forced resignation would "change our system from one of fixed tenure to one in which a president would remain in office only by popular approval."

Nixon said two months ago that resignation in the circumstances he faces would "lead to weak and unstable presidencies in the future, and I will not be a party to the destruction of the presidency of the United States."

At the same time, the President acknowledged that his resignation "might satisfy some of my good, friendly partisans who would rather not have the problem of Watergate bothering them."

With impeachment proceedings under way, and with the release of the edited White House transcripts, Watergate is bothering Republicans more now than it was then.

Republican talk of Nixon's resignation prompted the Democratic comments. Five Republican senators, three seeking re-election this year, have said the President should resign, consider it or step down temporarily during impeachment proceedings.

Among House Republicans, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the party leader, has said resignation is an option for the President to consider; Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois said he would welcome it. Anderson, chairman of the GOP conference, now says he does not foresee it happening.

There also have been editorial calls for resignation or impeachment from newspapers that had supported Nixon.

Resignation, of course, would spare congressional Republicans the agonizing vote on whether to impeach the President in the House and, if that is done, whether to convict him in the Senate.

For many Democrats, Nixon looms as the issue in the campaign months ahead. There is Democratic speculation about a landslide that would create a veto-proof, two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress.

But a Watergate backlash against Republican congressional candidates would be diminished, if not eliminated, if the President were to resign.

Tactically, the Democrats are in a stronger campaign position with Nixon in the White House. There is more to the political equation. If the President were to resign, the impeachment and the grand jury to decide whether to prosecute would continue, but there is no way to foresee a verdict in Watergate.

What would remain is a question mark: Did political pressure force an innocent president from the office to which he was elected? Nixon was, after all, the choice of 47 million voters, 60.7 per cent of the electorate, in the 1972 election.

And millions of those voters would remain convinced that nothing were proved, the problem would still exist. What the Democrats, and most Republicans, are saying is that the impeachment process should be allowed to run its course; that Congress should judge the evidence and, ultimately, the President.

What the Democrats, and most Republicans, are saying is that the impeachment process should be allowed to run its course; that Congress should judge the evidence and, ultimately, the President.

Wednesdays in the Parks Free for Senior Citizens

POUGHKEEPSIE Senior citizens shall be admitted free of charge on any Wednesday to all New York State Parks, according to Mrs. Lou Glasse, and she is hoping that Dutchess County will follow suit for its parks.

Mrs. Glasse, director of the Dutchess County Office for the Aging, noted that the new gold park pass system has been announced by Governor Malcolm Wilson in observation of Senior Citizens Month.

She pointed out that the federal government now provides a golden age pass for those over 62 years of age, entitling the bearer to free admission to any national park and recreation area and a 50 per cent reduction on concession areas in the park.

"As expensive travel is prohibitive for many older persons it is especially important to facilitate usage of parks located within the county," said Mrs. Glasse in asking that similar special provisions for senior citizens using Wilcox Park be made.

The state pass entitles citizens 65 years or older to admission to any state park or campsite without payment of the vehicular use or parking fee normally applying. This also applies to all passengers in the vehicle. The fee is also waived for buses carrying groups of senior citizens.

Although the privileges of the golden age pass do not extend to waiving charges for the use of park facilities such as bath house, theater, or mineral bath.

In this area, the pass may be secured at the Taconic State Park Commission headquarters in Staatsburg; from the State Office of Parks and Recreation; or the Department of Environmental Conservation; or any other park or campsite operated by these agencies.

The applicant must submit proof of age and proof of New York State residence.

State parks in Dutchess County commuting distance include: Taconic State Park; both in Co-lake and Millerton; Lake Taghkanic State Park on the Taconic Parkway near Ancram; Ogden Mills-Norrie State Park, Staatsburg; James Baird State Park, Pleasant Valley; Clarence Fahnestock State Park, Carmel; Clermont State Park, Tivoli; and Mohansic State Park, Yorktown Heights.

Poughkeepsie RR Bridge... Repair Plans Are Discussed

POUGHKEEPSIE Commissioner lauded Penn Central's prompt response to Governor Malcolm Wilson's appeal of May 10 for repair of the Penn Central Railroad Bridge across the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, State Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler and Jervis W. Langdon, President of the Penn Central Transportation Company, met recently to explore ways to get the bridge back into operation promptly.

About 700 feet of the 86-year-old span were burned when wooden portions caught fire, apparently from a spark from a train on May 9. In addition to the wooden ties being burned, some steel segments of the bridge were weakened by the fire.

Langdon and Commissioner Schuler met for about two hours earlier this week in the Commissioner's Albany office. The using available steel girders and bridge parts, rather than having new ones fabricated.

The State also is moving ahead with the measurement of the economic impact arising from the loss of the bridge, the Commissioner said.

Schuler told Langdon that 90 per cent of all Lehigh and Hudson River Railway traffic uses the bridge. Without this rail traffic, not only would some 100 rail and rail-related employees be forced out of work, but also a significant number of industries and the farming communities of southeastern New York, as well as in New Jersey and southern New England, would be affected by reduced rail service.

"This is clearly a case," Schuler said, "where the co-operation of all parties—state, federal and private sector—are called for because of overriding economic and social concerns. Not only is this bridge vital to the economy of the immediate area, but it also provides the most direct rail access to southeastern New England, thereby making its existence vital to any future rail system for the Northeast," the Commissioner said.

He noted that while immediate repair of the bridge is essential on an interim basis, the State already has called for longer-range improvements in the bridge facility under the Regional Rail Reorganization Act which, by 1975, will have led to formation of "Conrail," the new consolidated rail system for the Northeast.

The Commissioner noted that in testimony March 5 before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed reorganization of the Northeast rail network, he had said:

"Particular and immediate attention should be given to the work required to maintain and rehabilitate Penn Central's major bridge over the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie so that the important flow of traffic to and from Connecticut and southern New England can be properly handled."

Catskills Commission Area Public Meeting

KINGSTON The Temporary State Commission to Study the Catskills will hold a public meeting in Kingston on May 29 to hear local reaction to the commission's recently released interim report.

The session will begin at 8 p.m. in the Ulster County Courthouse. It will mark the commission's first meeting with the public concerning specifics of the interim report.

"We are asking the people to give us their opinions now," said Commission secretary Harold Finkle. "In a sense, we are asking if the public thinks we are on the right track."

Finkle added, "We want to see how the public feels about the report, and Ulster County is the best place to start. It's our most developed county."

The Catskill Study Commission is charged with investigating all aspects relating to the quality of life in Ulster, Delaware, Greene, Otsego, Schoharie and Sullivan Counties, as well as six towns in Albany County.

In its interim report, the Commission urged local governments to start work on land use planning and zoning. Commission studies indicate that uncontrolled subdivision is one of the major problems in the entire region.

The Commission found that many towns and villages in the region are not using the land use controls available to them.

Other recommendations included in the report were:

- Adoption of provisions of the Assessment Improvement Act;
- Consideration of consolidation of some towns and villages;
- Separation of town justices from the boards of second class townships;

• A constitutional amendment to rededicate 19 detached parcels of Forest Preserve land outside the Catskill Park to multiple use classification;

• Improved and more dispersed access to Forest Preserve lands within the Catskill Park so that the public will be better able to enjoy its own resources.

The commission's final report is due in March, 1975. It will be submitted to the state legislature at that time.

Music Shares Spotlight in Area

Theodore Bikel, a man with strong beliefs, the courage to voice them is a gifted singer and performer and received a standing ovation the night of his concert in the Community Theatre Sunday, May 12.

His appearance in Kingston was sponsored by Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel. Program content dipped heavily in the direction of current Israeli problems but the talented folksinger, guitarist, and dramatist was skillful in rounding out the evening with many well known folk songs using the languages of Hebrew, Yiddish, Russian, French and English.

Bikel also sang several freedom songs of the Soviet Jews which he said were smuggled out of the USSR on tapes.

In his social commentaries Bikel was direct and witty. He swept through domestic and international problems using an informal conversational approach between songs. He is a great performer.

Born in Vienna and raised in Palestine, Bikel was graduated from London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art with honors. Sir Laurence Olivier was so impressed with Bikel's dramatic abilities he offered him a role in his production of "A Streetcar Named Desire," starring Vivien Leigh. From "Streetcar," Bikel's career has been illuminated by superior stage, screen and TV portrayals.

Active in the field of labor, Bikel is first vice president of Actors' Equity Association. He is also co-chairman of the American Jewish Congress Governing Council and the founder of the American Jewish Congress Arts Chapter.

Although regarded as one of the world's most beloved folk singers, it is not too readily recognized that Bikel is also a founder of the Newport Folk Festival.

Bikel's work is tied very deeply with his social and personal beliefs. He firmly believes, "You must explore your roots in the past in order to be entitled to a future. I don't work any other way." (D. A. Narel).

Tiny Tips

The best kind of reptile to wear this season is imitation snakeskin. One of the best looking fakes is a polyester and cotton voile overshirt. Worn with or without a belt this lizard pattern goes comfortably anywhere.

Beautiful Eyes

Clear, clean fresh-looking eyes are the prettiest. Rinse eyes daily using an eye cup with a special eye solution. This beauty step soothes tired eyes and washes them free of dust particles.

Fruity Conditioner

Mix two to four fresh apricots, or four to six dried apricots that have been soaked until plump, mix in a blender. Apply mixture to face and leave on for 15 to 20 minutes. Rinse your face well. This is a step to glowing, healthy skin.

According to workers' reports, the Community Concert Association membership campaign has met with overwhelming response and the theatre's seating capacity has been filled. This projected report of returns was made by Mrs. John McCullough, membership secretary for the Association.

Mrs. George Wert, campaign chairman, was "most pleased with the dedicated efforts of the entire work force." The membership campaign closed on May 11.

The concert series which will feature the Warsaw National Orchestra, Shigemitsu Matsumoto and the famed New Christy Minstrels will prove to be a most exciting season of musical entertainment.

"All of us in Community Concerts are indeed pleased with the results of this campaign," said Mrs. Albert Sonnenberg, publicity chairman. "All those in the new media have been so cooperative and have made this another successful year."

In response to many requests...

We've extended our $6,750 scholarship competition through May 24.

Many entrants in our logo contest have asked for extra time. Therefore, we have extended the deadline for high school and college students to submit entries through May 24, 1974.

So if you haven't already entered, you still have an opportunity. Keep in mind that your logotype design should combine two elements: our name, Hudson Valley Federal Savings, and an American eagle. The contest rules emphasize originality—the idea—how you put the elements together into an original design.

Remember, first prize is a $3000 scholarship; second prize is a $2000 scholarship; and third prize is a $1000 scholarship. In addition, there will be 30 honorable mention awards of $25 each.

For complete details, pick up a copy of the official entry blank either at the nearest office of Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association, or at school.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory dutchess satin gown styled with a modified empire bodice, high sheer neckline and long tapered Juliette sleeves. Hand clipped peau d'ange lace in floral motifs accented the bodice, sleeves and mandarin shaped collar. A border of matching lace encircled the skirt and trimmed the hem. Her Juliette-designed bonnet, accented with peau d'ange lace and seed pearls, held a cathedral-length, lace-edged mantilla. Mrs. Hudler carried a colonial bouquet of stephanotis, white miniature carnations, pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Michelle Carter of Virginia served as maid of honor and Mrs. Louise Gallagher of Kingston served as matron of honor. Attendants were Susan Aiello, Lana Heitzman, Karen Schoonmaker, Cindy Walz and Beth Battaglino, cousin of the bride.

The honor attendants wore light blue chiffon gowns and the other attendants were attired in romance blue gowns. Flower Arranging Workshop Meeting

The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held a Flower Arranging Workshop meeting on Wednesday, May 8th, at the United Methodist Church, with Mrs. David Rosenbaum of Pine Bush conducting the program.

Mrs. Rosenbaum is a National Council of State Garden Clubs accredited judge; a New York State Horticulture judge, National Chrysanthemum Society judge; Past Director—New York State Federated Garden Clubs, Inc. Third District; and Judges Council Chairman—Third District.

With a program geared to be informative to both the novice as well as advanced flower arrangers, Mrs. Rosenbaum discussed the principles of design—balance, dominance, contrast, rhythm, proportion and scale, demonstrating her talk with actual arrangements.

Quoting some timely advice she herself had once been given by another judge, Mrs. Rosenbaum said, "Flowers should have nodding room—to say 'hello' to each other." She also advised that each flower should be placed at a different height, and facing in a different direction.

At the short business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Gordon Keeley, president, Program Chairman Mrs. Frank Greco reminded members that the next meeting would be the field trip to Sterling Forest on Tuesday, May 21. The bus will leave the Saugerties Bus Terminal at 8:45 a.m. The return trip will leave Sterling Forest at 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Greco noted that there are still a few seats available, and anyone wishing to take the trip should contact her at Saugerties. Non-members are invited.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess committee, Mrs. James Babb, Mrs. Wallace LeRoy and Mrs. Gordon Keeley.

He Wants to Horse Around, Not Get Bridled

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old guy with a problem. I was married for less than one year, and it was a disaster. My divorce will be final in three weeks.

I am presently in pretty deep with a chick who is hot to get married as soon as my divorce is final. She's okay to go with, but there is no way I could ever marry this gal. Besides, I want to play the field a while before tying myself down again.

I've tried to explain this to her, but she says: "Don't be afraid of marriage because you had one bad experience. If a person falls off a horse, the way to overcome his fear is to get back on the horse and ride."

Abby, this may be true with riding, but does it apply to marriage?

TEX

DEAR TEX: No. Marriage is a horse of a different color. If you want to horse around a while longer, tell that chick to cool it. And don't restrict yourself to one gal. There's safety in numbers.

DEAR ABBY: I have always wanted to make up a problem and send it in just to see if it would get printed, but now I have a real one.

About two years ago I started a pen pal correspondence with a girl in Japan. We are both 18 now. (I'm also a girl.) We exchanged pictures and became very friendly. I just got a letter from her which nearly knocked me over. She says she wants to come over here and spend A YEAR with me and my family! Abby, I would love to have her here for a month maybe, but I can't have her here for a year.

I live with my parents in a crowded apartment, and it's out of the question.

She says it's her lifelong dream to come to America, and I hate to disappoint her, but I need advice on how to tell her.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Tell her, just as you've told me, that you live in a small apartment, and much as you'd like to have her visit for a year,

Observes 90th Birthday

Mrs. Mabel Colville of Kerhonkson celebrated her 90th birthday May 13. She was guest of honor at a dinner party given by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vohs of Mamaroneck, at Patricia Murphy's Restaurant in New York on Mother's Day.

At that time, Mrs. Colville, the former Mabel Kelder Sheldon, presented the Sheldon family Bible to her great nephew, Norman Rynex of Marlton, N.J. Mr. Rynex, the family historian, has traced the Sheldon family beginnings in Ulster County to 1711.

you're able to extend your parents' hospitality for only one month.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old boy who is living at home — but I may not be by the time you get this letter if things don't improve at my house.

I have a friend (another guy) who is studying to be a hairdresser. I asked him to bleach my hair and make it a golden blond. My natural color is a dull, uninteresting light brown. I repeat — I ASKED my friend to do this. Nobody talked me into it.

I like my hair this way, but my parents don't. You would think I had committed some kind of crime. My mother said I would have to let it grow out. (As you know, this would look terrible.) My father says I look like a guy who likes guys.

I think it's my hair and I should be able to have it the color I like. My mom dyes her hair, and I'm not crazy about HER color, but I don't hassle her about it. I figure, if she likes it, that's her business. So why can't I have my hair the way I like it?

GOLDEN BOY

DEAR GOLDEN: For my part, you can.

Bruins Burst the Bubbles

BOSTON (UPI) — The assist and Sheppard a goal and the Philadelphia Flyers had the champagne on ice but the Boston Bruins burst their bubble, sending the bottles and the Broad Street Bullies back home for at least one more game.

Boston, reverting to the "Big Bad Bruins" style of several years ago, "outmuscled, outskated and outthrust" the Flyers in Coach Ben Guadolin's words, to win 5-1. Philadelphia leads three games to two in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals.

Bobby Orr and Gregg Sheppard carried scoring honors but the entire Boston team played "our best game of the three playoff series," according to Orr.

Orr had two goals and an assist. Sheppard had one goal and two assists. In between the scoring, the teams amassed a record of 43 penalties, including six fights, and assorted roughing, high sticking, slashing, kneeing and buttending calls. A total of 138 minutes in penalties was handed out.

Heading the hitting parade was Philly's Dave Schultz, who engaged in one fight each period and ran up 22 minutes in penalties.

Boston, which had allowed Philadelphia to play aggressive hockey for the first four games, began forechecking and controlling play in game No. 5. Orr and Sheppard ran the controls, starting plays, whipping back on defense and finishing off on defense and finishing off on defense.

Orr had two goals and an assist. Sheppard had one goal and two assists. In between the scoring, the teams amassed a record of 43 penalties, including six fights, and assorted roughing, high sticking, slashing, kneeing and buttending calls. A total of 138 minutes in penalties was handed out.

Boston winging at 8:14 of the first period after Sheppard on Hodge's deflection.

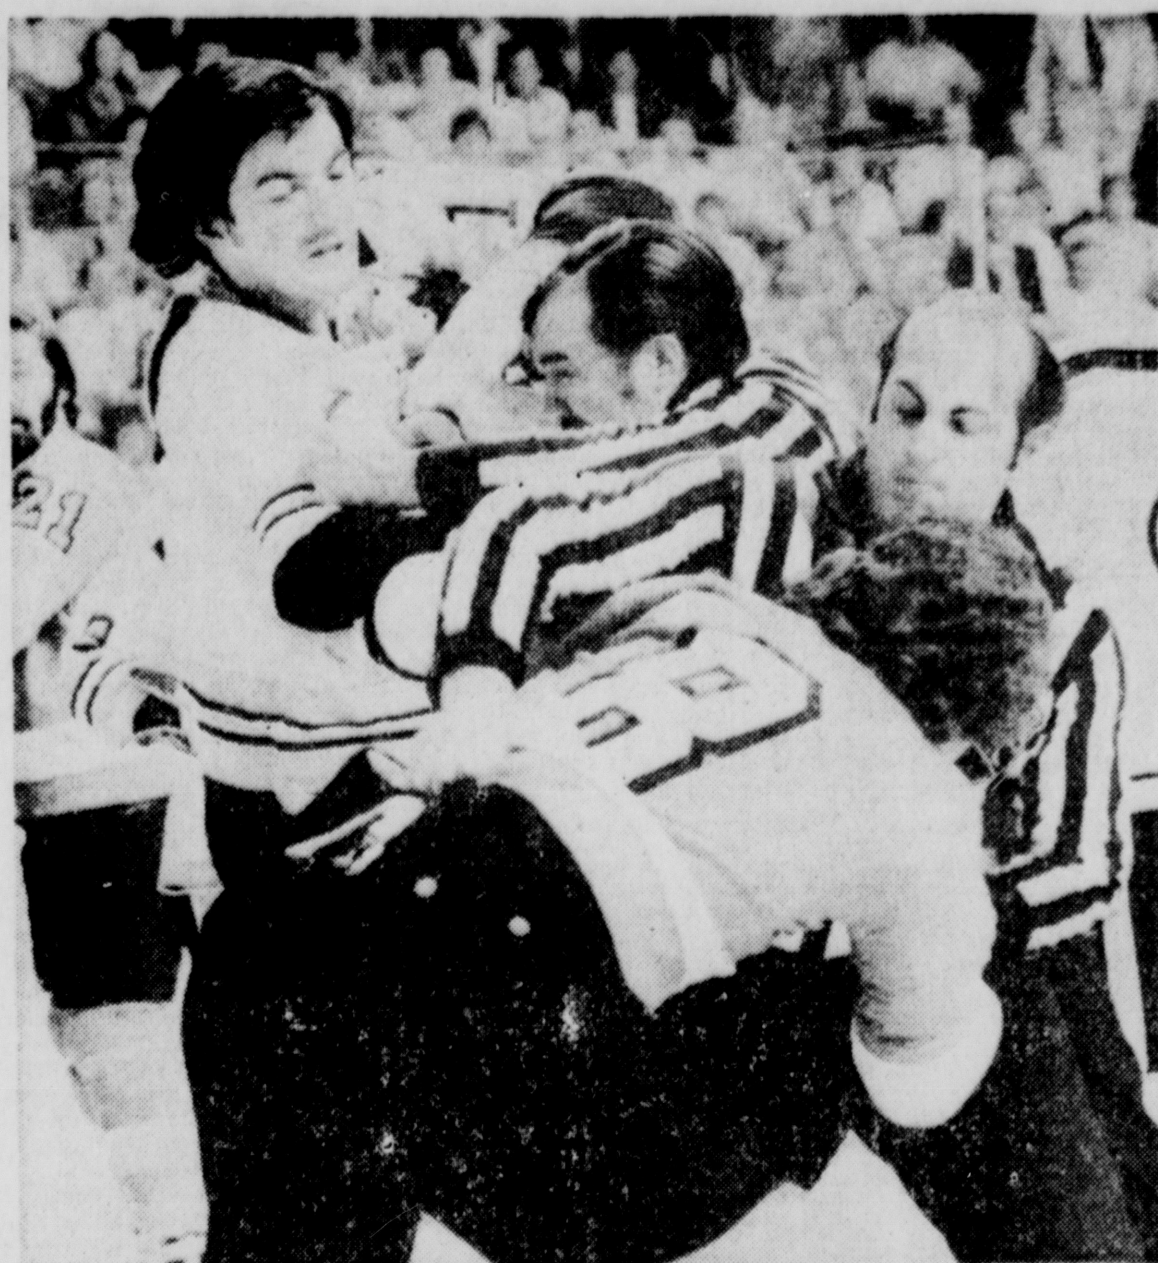

"We played 60 minutes of hockey," said Guadolin. "That's what we have to do to beat Philly. I would say we can win this thing; all we've got to do is play like we did tonight."

Guadolin, hoping the Bruins can become the second NHL club in history to rebound from a 3-1 deficit to win the Stanley Cup, made a prediction: "If we win in Philadelphia Sunday, it's all over for them."

Since the final game of the series would be played Tuesday at Boston Garden.

Orr wouldn't make predictions but did issue a warning to his teammates. "We have to play as well as we did tonight or better on Sunday to beat them."

Sheppard also was cautious Tuesday.

TUG AND HAUL: Officials strain to break up first period fight between Boston Bruins' Bobby Orr (L) and Philly's Dave Schultz (R) of the Flyers in Thursday night game at Boston Garden. It was one of many brawls during the game. Bruins won 5-1 to cut Flyers' lead to 3-2 in NHL Stanley Cup finals. (UPI)

Schultz Called Them "Barbarians"

By KEN CAFARELL
BOSTON (UPI) — It was a game that should have been sponsored by a razor blade company.

The Boston Bruins defeated the Philadelphia Flyers 5-1 Thursday night in the fifth game of their National Hockey League Stanley Cup finals but the contest more closely resembled a resurrected version of the old "Barbarians" fight.

A total of eight bouts of varying magnitude broke out in the game, which took 3 1/2 hours to play. Forty-three penalties were assessed, a league record for a playoff game. Thirty of them were combat penalties.

"The Flyers were supposed to be a team like we were a few years ago," said the Bruins' Ken Hodge. "We had to stand up to them and prove ourselves."

Dave Schultz, who was involved in three fights, opened the action with the game 24 seconds old when he took on Carol Vadnais and drew the first of his 22 minutes of penalty time.

The Raindrops Kept Falling

CHICAGO (UPI)—Raindrops kept falling on the head of Charles O. Finley Thursday night and inside the Chicago White Sox dugout, pitcher Wilbur Wood was doing a slow burn.

Finley, the controversial owner of the Oakland Athletics, had spent nearly 45 minutes walking up and down a soaked White Sox Park infield, hoping in vain that a 4-3 defeat could be averted.

The rains came in the middle of the eighth inning after the A's had tied the score 4-4 on a single by rookie Gaylen Pitts that scored Herb Washington. But the score reverted back to the end of the seventh inning, thereby giving Wood his sixth win against five losses.

Wood expressed anger when he referred to Finley's antics during a torrential rainstorm. "There was no way to win," he said. "I was just trying to get out of there."

Wood was particularly upset when he recalled that in three similar situations, the White Sox were the victims rather than the victors.

Parker Couldn't Care...

By PAUL LEBAR
AP Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Baseball's revised scoring rules denied the New York Mets' Harry Parker credit for a save during strong relief pitching Thursday.

But the lanky right-hander, workhorse of the thin Mets staff, couldn't have cared less after preserving a 6-4 victory in the National League over the St. Louis Cardinals.

"That doesn't matter," maintained Parker, whose one-inning stint over the final 2-3 innings was statistically unrecorded in protecting the decision for left-hander George Stone, 1-3.

"We've got to get to the .500 mark and then take it from there."

"I don't feel any special burden on this staff," Parker added. "When I do get the call, though, I like to be able to do my part."

Parker, once a Cardinals farm hand, was nominated Thursday after the Mets sent reliever Tug McGraw to New York for examination of a rib cage muscle pull.

And the persistent injury to the 29-year-old McGraw disturbed Manager Yogi Berra, whose team has a 15-19 record.

"We're hitting the heck out of the ball, but we need more pitching," Berra reflected.

"We've got 26 days without a day off, and if we have to put Tug on the disabled list we'll have to find another hurler."

The pitching of the 6-foot-3 Stone was sufficient until Mike Tyson slashed a one-out double with the Mets ahead 6-3 in the seventh.

That brought on Parker, who surrendered a pinch single to Jim Hickman setting up the final Cards run and afterward slammed the door.

"I got tired, but I don't think I'm a quitter," Parker said.

"I just haven't been able to break into the Phil's regular lineup, got a chance to play Thursday night for the second straight game because Willie Montanez has a sore wrist."

Hutton, now 28, was picked up by the Phils after the 1971 season in a deal with Los Angeles for Larry Hise. He batted 381 and 247 times the last two years for the Phils while hitting .260 and .263.

The meet normally marks the conclusion of the UCAL season, until next week. All total points gathered are:

Horse Show Set In Dutchess

PLEASANT VALLEY and purebred Arabian classes. The annual Open Horse Show of the Pleasant Valley Riding Club will be held Sunday, May 19, 9 a.m. on the club grounds located off Route 34 on Rosway Road. Mrs. Ann Grenici of Pleasantville will judge the English events and Roland Wood of Ballston Spa will judge Western events, as well as half

Two-time defending champion Wallkill has amassed nine dual meet points while Ontario, with three less meets, has six. Both teams are unbeaten. Third place Pine Bush has lost only to Wallkill. Ontario is scheduled to face Wallkill May 22.

If Wallkill wins the UCAL meet and Ontario is second, the Panthers will clinch a virtual tie for the title. OSC would then have to win the head-to-head match to tie. If Pine Bush or some other team finishes ahead of either Wallkill or Ontario or both, the possibilities for a champion are endless. Wallkill boasts the likes of Larry Frisco and Felix Feliciano, who finished one-two in the 100-yard dash last year. The Panthers also have ace pole vaulter, triple jumper, and hurdler, Steve Narvaez; top notch shot putter and discus thrower Paul Gleidman; high jumper Jeff Koonz; sprint man Al Castillio; and 440 star Dennis Lloyd.

Ontario returns last year's 220 champ Harold Wright. The Indians can also call upon 330 intermediate hurdler Jon Coomes and three-quarters of a record holding mile relay team of Wright, Jon and Jeff Coomes. Shot putter Tracey Smith and high jumper Holger Sternberg also help make Ontario tough.

Once-beaten Pine Bush should provide a strong challenge to the favorites. The Bushmen have vaulter Stan Gill, high jumper Paul Bender, hurdler Dan Shouten, and a good distance group with Brian Shurter, Gary Shouten, Jim Raymond, John McElroy, and Greg Allen.

Ellenville has several strong entries, two of whom could go all the way. Long jumper Norm Zelinsky has been in a class by himself and Stan Foo is a favorite in the 120 high hurdles. Other Blue Devil stars are Kevin Trapnell in the pole vault; Bill Decker in the distance events; and Angelo Cappozoli in the high jump.

Kevin Post, Tom Nee, and Jim Rioux, three of the members of Coleman's two-mile relay championship quartet, are back and should give the Statesmen some long distance points.

Dave Bankart, UCLA record holder in the 440, is Red Hook's hope for a champion. Mark Gravino, Mike Mahoney, Bob Arsenault, and Al Bristol are tough distance men while Bob and Dick Ross and Scott Burd should be heard from in field events.

Shot putter Bob Kopsick, hurdler Scott McGlinchey, and two-miler Charles Bevier head the New Palitz entries. Marlboro has in Ed Cosman an outstanding 220 runner and in Jim Ereeg a top distance threat.

Liberty's Pete Parks and John Yuen (in the 220 and 440 respectively) look good while Highland has a fine mile relay team of Paul Davison, Wayne Delia, Tony Palmiotti, and Jim Dapp.

Rich Zimmerman, a hurdler, and Bob King, the long jumper and pole vaulter, are Rondout's key hopefuls. Also strong are the 880 and mile relay teams. Following Saturday's meet, UCAL President Don Averill will conduct awards ceremonies.

Billiard Ace Hopkins At Chappie's Saturday

KINGSTON Allen Hopkins, New Jersey State pocket billiard champion, will play two 150-point exhibition matches at Chappie's Golden Cue Saturday. He will face two local stars — Dave Holly at 2 p.m. and Billy Costello at 7 p.m. The public is invited and there is no admission charge. The exhibitions are sponsored by Donald VanKeuren who recently purchased the Golden Cue from Bob Chapman.

Hopkins, one of the young stars in the game, will compete in the U.S. Open in Chicago in August. He won the Newburgh Invitational this spring and was third in the Kingston Invitational in December, 1973.

OPEN HOUSE

Sunday, May 19th from 1-5 p.m.

If you've always wondered what a Capp Home is like, here's your chance to find out.

Come to our Open House and you'll see how the owners can save thousands by doing the finishing themselves.

Capp erects and closes in the home on your lot. You do the finishing and save a bundle. Or simply sub-contract all the finishing and still save hundreds of dollars.

A closed-in Capp Home ready for finishing by owners — at big savings!

By the way, since this house isn't all finished and prettied up with fancy furniture, you'll also be able to examine our workmanship and materials very closely. We figure a Capp Home doesn't have to be finished to look impressive.

So come on: Get the inside story on

Your Horoscope

Saturday May 18

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The very early part of the day is excellent for whatever requires attention to the lighter side of life and for shopping and doing errands. Later you find a decided likelihood of separations between congenial persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are so very emotional today that you could stir up a hornet's nest of indecision, so take it easy and cool off. Be poised.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't permit some secret annoyance, to keep you out of business or social activity that is important to you. Don't lose your temper.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your hours properly so that you can visit friends and handle business matters wisely. Try not to spend more than you can afford.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Making sure you keep ethical where career matters are concerned is important now. Don't neglect to pay a pressing bill.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to use good judgment in handling a civic matter. Keep a promise you have made. Look into a new project that pleases you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Forget business matters now and be more interested in the recreational side of life. Show more affection for mate and avoid a rift.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Avoid a fracas between an official and a friend, otherwise you could get the brunt of the quarrel. Know what others expect of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have a problem that requires the advice of an expert in order to solve it properly. Don't trust your hunches in the morning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Difficulties could arise that will stand in the way of your wishes so get rid of them early. An expert can give you good advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) There is much confusion at home and you can't get a clear picture of it, so wait until tomorrow before doing anything about it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use extreme care in motion and avoid a possible accident. Find a new system for handling household chores. Take it easy tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to increase your income but it's wise to study new methods before going ahead with your plans. Spend less money on pleasure.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to be active in the outside world as well as at home, so teach early to make a plan whereby both desires can be satisfied. As parents you need to give praise where it is deserved. Musical studies can please the emotional side of this nature. Religious training brings happiness into this life.

"The Stars impel, they don't compel." What you do with your life is largely up to you!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

AT HOME: (Q) Kirk comes to see me Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and sometimes Sunday. Last night he told me that because of the gasoline shortage and because it is so expensive we would be staying home a lot.

This worries me, because just the other night we didn't go anywhere and he said he was bored. How can I keep him from getting bored? I would just die without him.—Afraid in South Carolina.

(A) Cards, dominoes and other games help when you stay in instead of going out. Good music is also a help. So is TV if you choose programs selectively. And boys and girls have been talking to each other since it all started.

Try preparing dinner for him, or let him help you cook a meal. It might become a regular thing.

BAD BREAK: (Q) I play in a group with Jim. He has turned into a maniac since he broke up with his girl friend Brenda. He says he doesn't like her but I know he still does. I would like to do something to either help him get over Brenda or get back with her. What is your advice?—Roger in Rhode Island.

(A) You cannot solve Jim's problems for him. You CAN be sympathetic and give him an opportunity to talk about Brenda or anything else if he is in the mood. That the best way you can help him—by listening and keeping what you hear to yourself.

He and Brenda will have to work out their own problems.

beaten the contract if I had been wide awake."

East was quite right. At trick one East should have put his king of diamonds on his partner's queen. If South ducked East could lead a spade. West could win; play any other suit, and wait for two more spade tricks.

South's best play would be to go right up with his ace, draw the trumps and lead a second diamond from dummy.

Here is where the real alertness would be required. East would have to go right up with his 10 spot so as to be able to win the trick and lead a spade before South had had a chance to strip the hand. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

20 Years Later...School Segregation a Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty years ago today the U.S. Supreme Court declared "separate but equal" schools unconstitutional. But on the 20th anniversary of that historic decision two out of three black school children outside the South still attend schools that have become increasingly segregated and overwhelmingly black.

Statistics compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in 1972 showed that 71.1 per cent of Northern public schools had enrollments more than half black. More than 8 per cent of the schools in border states and the District of Columbia remained predominantly black. And while 53.7 per cent of the public schools in the Old South were at least 50 per cent black, an estimated half million white students still attended private segregated academies.

Noted black psychologist Dr. Kenneth Clark said, "The major problem now in the desegregation of the schools is clearly the Northern urban problem. There is no question of this." Clark's studies show the debilitating effect of racial segregation on children were cited by the high court in the 1954 Brown opinion.

Data from school boards in Chicago and New York indicate that many "big city" school systems are more segregated now than ever before. Nearly half of Chicago's 537 elementary schools are more 90 per cent black, and 144 primary schools have 100 per cent black enrollments.

Dr. Clark said there has been a reversal of the situation of 20 years ago when most attention was focused on injustices in the South. Southerners, he said, were for the most part honest and direct in their reaction to the court's edict—but Northern school systems simply refused to obey the law.

The 1954 decision (Brown vs. Topeka Board of Education) was based simply and firmly on the principle that the U.S. Constitution is color-blind.

The decision, read by Chief Justice Earl Warren, stated: "Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal... such segregation is a denial of the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th amendment."

A year later, however, the court in a further ruling (Brown II) said the desegregation order must be implemented "with all deliberate speed."

—a decision that permitted some school boards to get away with token integration or ignore the law until civil rights legislation was passed a decade later.

Today, even many of Topeka's schools are still overwhelmingly black and segregated. The issue, already decided once in the highest court in the land, may be headed for another round in the lower courts.

Wednesday, the Senate rejected a measure by one vote—47 to 46—that would have outlawed busing to federal courts.

achieve racial balance in public schools.

And Thursday a busing foe reintroduced new antibusing legislation as an amendment tacked on to a $23 billion extension of the Federal Aid to Education Act. Busing supporters, again by a one vote margin, changed the language of the measure so that the final determination of its constitutionality will be made in the federal courts.

WRIST SHAVING—Election official shaves wrist of incumbent Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer prior to his being allowed to vote in nation's presidential election. Each voter had to have a wrist shaved and had to dip a fingertip in indelible red ink "guaranteed to last three days" before casting ballot in order to prevent multiple voting. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Balaguer Wins In Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Santiago Accord coalition to President Joaquin Balaguer boycotted the election, said he emerged today with a lopsided victory in a controversial national election boycotted by half the eligible voters in the capital.

The national election board announced partial returns early today giving Balaguer 215,093 votes to 43,759 for Homero Lajara, a minor candidate representing the tiny Popular Democrat party.

Balaguer, candidate of the Dominican Reform party, won election for his third consecutive four-year term in office. His party also won control of the 26-seat Senate and the 89-seat Chamber of Deputies.

Antonio Guzman, the main opposition candidate who pulled out of the race and urged his supporters to cast blank ballots.

Youngster's Diary Tells of Ordeal

Editor's Note: One of the youngsters held hostage Wednesday by Arab terrorists in Maalot kept a diary describing the 13-hour ordeal. The diary was uncovered Thursday amid the rubble of the schoolhouse in which the hostages were held.

MAALOT, Israel (AP) — One of the 85 students held hostage by Arab terrorists in a Maalot school Wednesday recorded her 13-hour ordeal on a scrap of paper torn from a school copy tablet.

Twenty hostages and the three guerrillas were killed and virtually all the other youngsters were wounded when Israeli troops stormed the school. The identity and fate of the diarist are unknown.

The tattered, bloodstained diary was found by workers Thursday in the rubble-filled schoolhouse of Maalot. Its contents follow:

Second day of our Gadhafi, 15-5-74.

I'm half-asleep, half-awake, don't feel like sleeping. I hear the girls screaming "terrorists, terrorists." In the first seconds I couldn't believe what my ears heard. But little by little I'm getting used to the idea and I see a terrorist come in and wake up all the boys and girls.

Shouts, screams, kids falling over one another. Unbelievable. A terrorist. Well, that's the reality. The main thing is he speaks Hebrew and tells us not to be afraid of him and that he will not harm us.

Well, we thought it would be like that and indeed it was. Their behavior was very good. Half the children are crying and half are shaking, and of course all the teachers have disappeared. Pupils are missing and, all in all, a whole mess.

Little by little we squeezed together and sat silent, our bodies trembling with fear. Two shots in the air and then a burst from the other side. We thought, it's a dream. That's how we sat for two whole hours.

At six o'clock—in the morning—we turned on the radio without moving. And it told us everything that had happened. Suddenly there was talk through loudspeakers between the terrorists and the police and I know we'll be locked in here until 6 p.m.—the deadline set by the Arabs. We didn't know what to do or what might happen any second. We sat tense and nervous. Everybody aching in some part of his body. In short, we were in terrible fear, just like a horror movie.

So we sat for hour after hour until we heard that in a few hours we would be released from this pressure. What joy.

Arabs May Get MIG 23s

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence sources say Russia may be preparing to ship some of its advanced MIG23 jet fighters to Arab air forces.

This could spell trouble for the Israeli Air Force if the MIG23 "flogger" appears in numbers on the Syrian front.

More than that, it would suggest that Russia is prepared to stiffen Syria's ability and will to fight while the United States is trying to restore a truce between the Syrians and Israelis.

U.S. analysts say the MIG23, with a top speed of nearly 2,000 miles an hour, would significantly boost the power of Arab air forces now equipped with earlier model fighters.

Intelligence sources say created MIG23s have been seen near a Black Sea port from which the Russians ship military equipment by sea to Syria and other Arab nations.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan claimed early last month that MIG23s were in Syria. A Pentagon spokesman said at the time that "there is no evidence that the MIG23 has appeared in Syria."
